BILL ORDERED ENGROSSED

HOUSE WILL PROBABLY PASS
CAPITAL LOCATION BILL
TODAY.

HARMONY IN HOUSE

Senate is Marking Time—No Chance for Adjournment Until Next Week.

Oklahoma City, Dec. 1.—The Durant-Thompson bill, which provides for the permanent location of the seat of government of Oklahoma at Oklahoma City, and creates a commission composed of three members, to be appointed by the governor, whose duties shall be to select a suitable tract of land, upon which shall be placed the capitol and other state buildings, was recommended to the house for adoption, with a few minor changes, Thursday afternoon, by the committee on the location of the capitol.

It was announced Thursday afternoon at 6:30 o'clock that the house would meet Friday morning at 9 o'clock, when the Durant-Thompson bill will be immediately put upon its passage. Several members were in favor of proceeding at once Thursday afternoon in the consideration of the measure, but on a motion by Representative J. H. Maxey, Jr., of Pottawatomie county, the house adjourned to meet Friday morning.

According to democrats leaders, the house will pass the capital bill as introduced by Representative Durant, after it has been thoroughly discussed, and after two or three members have attempted to secure amendments to the measure.

Practically the only opposition to the Durant-Thompson bill is the clause creating a capitol commission who shall have full power to agree upon a site for the capitol and other state buildings, without reference to the legislature. No voice has so far been raised in the house or senate against the establishment of the capital at Oklahoma City. The plan by which the site shall be selected is the bone of contention.

That the legislature will not adjourn until the middle or latter part of next week, despite the statement of President J. Elmer Thomas, president pro tem of the senate, Thursday afternoon to the effect that it was the desire of the members to adjourn Saturday was evidenced Thursday afternoon by the action of the house and senate in failing to pass the capital bill. It will be impossible at this time for the special session to adjourn before next Monday night.

If the house had passed the capital bill Thursday afternoon it is probable that the capital committee would have reported upon the Redwine and Thompson bills, but as matters now stand, it is doubtful if the committee will submit a report before Saturday. That senator Redwine's measure meets with opposition is apparent. Senator Thompson's measure is more generally liked.

As a brief summary in the senate, there is practically no opposition to Oklahoma City as the location for the capital, but there is a big difference as to how it should be built and what site should be selected. Several members feel that the site should be selected and passed upon by the legislature; several feel that the capital commission should make the choice, and others feel that it is up to the governor to pick out the ground that seems preferable.

That the senate is divided on these matters is not denied. Thus far, however, no bill has been introduced relative to the method of the selecting of a site which exactly pleases the senate, and they will not take action upon either the Thompson, Redwine or Williams bills and resolutions until the lower house has cleared the way.

OUTSIDE PARTIES AFTER BYRD'S MILL

SEVERAL PARTIES IN CONFERENCE HERE YESTERDAY AND TODAY.

A bunch of Oklahoma City people were making an examination of the Byrd's Mill property yesterday. It is known that State Engineer Stewart was there a day or two ago, and it is reported that he was in Ada yesterday conferring with certain parties interested in the attempted lease of the property last spring. Others are here today, and the secret conferences being held would indicate that something is in the air and that if Ada does not get a hump on herself these parties may yet knock the personation and leave Ada as dry as the proverbial powderhorn.

RACE QUESTION IN KANSAS

LEGISLATURE WOULD FORBID INTERMARRIAGE AND ESTABLISH SEPARATE SCHOOLS.

Topeka, Nov. 29.—Representative J. N. Herr, democrat, of Barber county proposes to inject the race question into legislative affairs this winter. In a letter to The Journal he says:

"I propose to introduce a bill prohibiting the intermarriage of Caucasians and Ethiopians, also a bill to provide separate schools for the races."

This means that there will be something doing every moment when those bills come up for consideration. In the very nature of things they will receive almost the solid support of the democratic members. The democrats of Kansas, from Colonel Bill Sapp down, always delight in boasting that they belong "to a white man's party." A few republicans also are inclined that way, but as a rule the republicans always have been against such legislation.

There was one occasion when the republicans voted to separate the races in school. That was when they passed a law creating a negro high school at Kansas City, Kan., a few years ago. That action was taken on account of a threatened race war between the white and black school children after a white boy had been killed by a negro schoolmate. The white people of Kansas City, Kan., declared to the legislature that separate high schools were the only means of averting a race war, and under those conditions the law was passed. But many of the members who voted for it, have not heard the last of it to this day and several have been in political oblivion ever since.

The republicans would have to stand the responsibility for any general legislation of that kind this winter, as they are in control of both houses. It is not likely that Mr. Herr will get either of his bills enacted, and if he should Governor Stubbs likely would use the veto power.

Mrs. H. Blinn and daughter, Miss Epperson have returned from a visit in New Orleans and points in Texas.

TEXAS VALUATIONS ABOVE TWO BILLIONS

Austin, Tex., Dec. 1.—The total taxable valuation of the state of Texas is $2,382,637,058, according to the tax rolls which have been received by the Controller's Department. This is an increase of $72,833,432 over the valuation of 1909, which was $2,309,803,626. Likewise it is an increase of $12,941,504 over the estimate prepared for the Automatic Tax Board when the State tax rates were fixed, the estimate giving a valuation of only $2,369,554. The estimated valuation was an increase of $59,791,928 over 1909, while the real figures taken from the rolls show an actual increase of $72,833,432.

The year 1909 showed an increase of over $100,000,000 over 1908, but the increase this year is considered remarkable on account of the drouth through Texas. Though it be not as large as the increase of the previous year, general satisfaction is expressed with the amount of it, and it is regarded as a wonderful showing for the prosperity of the state.

The fact that the real valuations show an increase over the estimates also means that the state will realize more from the ad valorem tax rate of 4c than was accounted for when the estimates were made. This will increase the income from the ad valorem tax as well as from the school tax very neatly.

Just as Roosevelt seems to have gone into eclipse, Dr. Cook's name is seen on the front pages of the papers again. He admits that he may not have found the pole after all, but that if he was mistaken it was due altogether to the fact that his long isolation and wanderings amid the Arctic snows unbalanced his mind and produced the aberration which to him seemed real. He declares that he hopes in a series of magazine articles to place himself right in the eyes of the American people so that they will no longer look upon him as the most monumental impostor of any age, but will be charitable enough to believe that at the worst his was only an honest mistake. The wily doctor says nothing about refunding any part of the thousands of dollars he received while on his triumphal lecture tour. Having made a fair sized fortune from the gullible public, he has been enabled to live in ease ever since, and his magazine articles telling how he did it will net him a few thousands more. His story will doubtless be read by thousands and perhaps enjoyed more by his dupes than any others. After it is all over any good natured American can join in the laugh on himself.

Over in "Merrie England" they are having all sorts of fun in a parliamentary election. This time the issue is squarely before the people whether or not a bridle shall be put on the House of Lords. In America this would have been done long ago, but over there the people have a deep reverence for the wisdom of their ancestors and they look askance at anything that tends to a change. The lords were a power three centuries ago, and the people are slow to curb them now. This time, however, it looks like the commons may put them out of business. The funny part of it all is the lords are making a row about American money being put up to further the Irish cause, while scarcely one of the noble families has not been boosted up by the marriage of some millionaire American girl. A few days ago Waldorf Astor, a son of the American millionaire who emigrated to England and became a naturalized citizen of that country, made a strong appeal to the country, saying that American dollars were not needed in managing British affairs.

A few days ago when P. G. Ekman, city engineer, and W. G. Goodwin, the Kansas City engineer who was here in consultation with Mr. Ekman, went to the Byrd's Mill spring they happened on to a prominent engineer from a certain city of the state that has for sometime had an eye on that supply. He was making a careful examination of the spring and carried away a number of bottles of the water as samples. Ada has first call on that water supply and if she does not make the most of her opportunity she will certainly never get another chance at it.

Very frequently an editor will hear of some "stinging criticism" of him and his policy coming from some citizen of the community, and being only human, this is not very pleasant, but still if he has any nerve he is not going to give up the fight and hunt up a new location, for it would be the same wherever he might go. There is only one thing to do, and that is to scrap it out. The man who is discouraged by a little cussing will never amount to much anywhere.

One of the queerest traits of character in many men good for any other form of obligation is that they seem to regard the presenting of a bill for the subscription to their paper as a personal insult.

Is Ada to be a real city, or just a big village? The question will be answered at the polls three weeks hence.

APPELLATE COURT RULES ON INFORMATION

Guthrie, Ok., Dec. 1.—Judge Richardson of the Criminal Court of Appeals handed down an opinion in the case of Tom Tilley, from Okfuskee county, which is of general interest over the state. Tilley was arrested on a charge of selling intoxicating liquors on an unverified information by the County Attorney, which, however, charged him with the offense.
 At the trial in the lower court the defendant raised no objection to the form of the information, nor did he file a motion to quash, either of which would have been good, but he afterward asked for a writ of habeas corpus. The court held that while the law required that informations in misdemeanor cases be verified, yet that if the defendant saw fit to waive the point it was his privilege, and he had exercised it. As to informations the court says:

"An unverified information and one verified only on information and belief are equally defective."

The court also explains that while an information in a misdemeanor case must be verified, yet verification is unnecessary in a felony case. The court also refused to grant the petitioner relief by habeas corpus, holding that "where a petitioner is imprisoned under a conviction for crime unless the judgment is void and not merely voidable, relief can not be had by habeas corpus. The writ of habeas corpus is not intended for correction of errors or mere irregularities, and can not be substituted for an appeal or writ of error."

MENEFFEE AND W. L. REED AFTER APPOINTMENT

Guthrie, Okla., Dec. 1.—Rumors, somewhat too persistent to be utterly ignored, say that State Treasurer James Menefee, who is forced by the constitution to retire from his present office at the end of his term, has secured the pledges of a majority of the members of the school land board that they will support him for head of the school land department.

The place pays an annual salary of $3,300. Menefee is opposed in his supposed candidacy by State Auditor M. E. Trapp, state superintendent E.
 D. Cameron, and Sam W. Stone, present head of the department, who is out for reappointment. It is stated that Bank Examiner W. L. Reed, of Ada, is a tentative candidate.

The appointment rests with the school land board, which consists of the following: The governor, the secretary of state, the state auditor, the superintendent of public instruction, and the prsident of the board of agriculture.

It is rumored that there is to be a wholesale "cleaning out" of the land department, and that practically all of the twelve appointive positions in that department are to be declared vacant and successors appointed to those who now hold them.

Many other state offices are to be filled by new appointments, among them that of state librarian, commissioner of health, adjutant general and bank commissioner. R. W. Dick, warden of the state penitentiary, is one of the few who hold appointive offices who will probably hold his position.

DR. PRICE'S Cream Baking Powder

Its superiority is unquestioned Its fame world-wide Its use a protection and a guarantee against alum food

The low-grade powders are made from "phosphate alum," or "sodium aluminum sulphate," which is also alum, a mineral acid, and that makes the food unhealthful.

One pound of the imitation (25c.) powders contains five ounces of alum, a mineral poison.

Food baked with alum baking powders is found to contain a portion of the alum unchanged.

The continued use of alum made food impairs digestion, causing dyspepsia.
 The careful housewife when buying baking powder, will examine the label and take only a brand whose label shows the powder to be made from cream of tartar.

DIAZ BEGINS EIGHTH TERM

City of Mexico, Dec. 1.—At the inauguration ceremonies attending the eighth succession of President Diaz, held here today, the American Ambassador, Henry L. Wilson, acting as dean of the diplomatic corps, presented the congratulations of the various representatives of the foreeign governments, including the United States.

This afternoon Gen. Diaz and Senor Corral received delegations of business men and foreign residents.
 Tonight there were band concerts, free theatrical performances and the distribution of food and blankets among the poorer classes.

The usual inauguration display was absent today. The president and Vice President were driven from the National Palace to the chamber and back to the Palace through double lines of soldiers, and escorted by the presidential staff and guard. As the party returned to the Palace a salute was fired by a battery of artillery. There were no crowds in the streets and the business of the city proceeded as usual.

Notwithstanding that the possibility of any attempt being made to interfere with the inauguration program was generally thought to be imminent, every safeguard had been taken against an overt act by those who, during the past two weeks, sought to overthrow the Diaz administration. There was a feeling of relief apparent among the public men when the affair was over and this feeling was doubtless shared by those in authority.

Diaz's Message to Nations.

"It is very gratifying to me to say that my heart is full of faith in the progress of a people who, like the Mexican, has known how to conquer by its own efforts a place among the lovers of toil after having proved its valor in war in patriotic defense of country, and that never as today could I declare that Mexico belongs definitely to the group of nations of assured stability, because against the firm guarantee of peace which we possess no influence tending toward its dissolution can now or ever shall be able to prevail.

"As to the relations between Mexico and the United States and other friendly nations, never have they been more cordial, as was indicated in a convincing manner during the celebration of the centennial of Mexico's independence."

The above is the authorized message of President Diaz to all nations on the eve of his inauguration for the eighth time as chief executive of the Mexican Nation, given expression through the medium of the Associated Press.

Birdwell-Balthrop.

About 2:30 this afternoon the News man happened into the court house just as quite a commotion was taking place in the hallway. Investigation proved that it was caused by the prospect of a wedding. The prospective bride and groom were in the county judge's office procuring the necessary papers, and Justice Brown was sent for. He came and really seemed a little rattled for once, although he pulled himself together and in a very few words made the young people one. The groom was Mr. T. R. Birdwell of Bebee, and the bride Miss Millie Astor Balthrop of Ada. After the ceremony they received the hearty congratulations of the numerous friends who witnessed the ceremony and then took their departure.

INTERVIEW FROM GOV.-ELECT CRUCE

INTERESTING FACTS GATHERED BY REPRESENTATIVE OF ST.
LOUIS REPUBLIC.

The St. Louis Republic publishes the following interview by Gov. Cruce. It was taken by Miss Katherine Heard, daughter of Judge S. Heard of Stonewall, who is on the editorial staff of the Republic.

"In so far as I am in control of my destiny, I have not now, nor will I have in the future, any matrimonial intentions. Like the prisoner who learned to love his spider-webbed cell, I have grown submissive to the compromises of my condition."

With this philosophic balm, indicative of a sure and holy calm, Governor-elect Lee Cruce of Oklahoma dismissed the excitement occasioned by his rumored marriage before or immediately after the assumption of his official duties on January 1.

The extremely long and much over-coated and well-groomed Chief Executive of the new state was gliding peacefully with wide, slow strides into the cold gloom of the midway at Union Station, yesterday, when he was importuned to relieve public anxiety on matters personal and official relative to his incoming administration. His immediate objective was the ticket office, where he anticipated purchasing a ticket for his old Kentucky home, a weather-washed farmhouse three miles from Marion, in Crittendon county.

His patience and kindness of disposition kept him smilingly shoved to one side of the information bureau by a series of aggressive individuals, who engaged the attendants in absorbed consideration of their respective problems, until finally an informant interrupted with a "What is it, Capt'n?"

He's Genial and Southern.

Governor Cruce is 47 years old, over 6 feet tall, with an iron-gray mustache, genial and Southern.

The intricate solutions of his journey arranged he deposited his huge grip and revealed the satisfaction of his frame of mind. He's out of work at present. He has resigned as president of his Ardmore bank and he won't be inaugurated as governor for a month yet. Notwithstanding the sanitary difficulties of "the old farm" he will return impressively to his birthplace with the insignia of the highest honor of his state.

Perhaps the governor's trip is peculiarly agreeable at this time, from that very human ambition of a man to convince the incredulous town where he was born there was in him a potential quality of success which it did not realize at all, and, like the doubting Thomas, refused to believe without palpable evidence.

The governor-elect is a man of peace with the wise discretions of the business disciplinarian. His administration as the second governor of the new state seems to come in providential sequence after the strong but precedent disturbing reign of Governor Haskell, whose aggressive initiative was so necessary in establishing a state government from the most confusing and chaotic elements.

Detractors Sadly in Error.

The impression of the Cruce opponents that Governor Haskell's success has a vague and adjustable personality, will be dispelled by the virile constructive policies which he avows he will advance. These constitute a far-reaching propaganda for improvement of educational facilities and the establishment of a better system of roads.

"I regard the matter of government in a very practical manner," he declared. "In fact, I believe the average voter today is a practical man. You can't reach him, as formerly, with emotional oratory. You've got to make an appeal to his common sense. He may laugh at your jokes and cry at your pathos, but he won't vote for you unless you show specifically how you can make the community in which he lives a more habitable place. It is my theory that when a man reaches a plane of a fair amount of worldly success, his sense of obligation to his community should be aroused, in that he can afford to give himself and his time to the solution of their problems. It was this feeling that I had the time and the inclination to help solve some of Oklahoma's problems, business and social, that moved me to make this gubernatorial campaign."

Views on "Grandfather Clause"
"There are two things that I would like to see done during my administration. I would like to see the educational problems of Oklahoma settled along permanent lines. I do not believe any people can be permanently prosperous without an educated citizenship. The success of a free government is based on this principle. This is the principle involved in our much criticized "grandfather clause." I supported this clause not because it assisted in my election, because it did not, but because such an educational qualification for franchise was necessary to protect the State of Oklahoma from the great influx of illiterate negroes from the Southern States, in all of which there is some educational provision enforced.

"There are several reforms in our schools which I shall advocate. The public schools of the state, aside from the money received from rentals of public school lands and interest on the public school fund, are supported entirely by local taxation. I want to make it the obligation of the state to supplement this with a fund that, when added to, will be sufficient to give to each district not less than five months' free school."

Favors Rural High Schools.

"Another thing I want done is the establishment of consolidated high schools, whereby children in the country can receive high school educations without leaving home. Under our modern system of public schools the boy and girl in the rural district hasn't the same chance. Three-fourths of them have only an eighth grade education, and this is not sufficient. The most dangerous period of a girl or boy's life is when he is ready for high school. He must not leave home for these advantages at a time when he needs home influences."

"The other reformation which I am going to try to put through is a system of road building whereby Oklahoma's resourceful farms will be attractive to outside capitalists. These two—the road building and the public schools for the rural district—are interdependent."

Governor Cruce's professional opinion as a banker on the much-discussed Oklahoma banking laws is of interest.

Commends Banking Laws.

"I think," he said, "that Oklahoma, eliminating the guarantee feature of its law, still has the best banking law that has ever been passed in American history. And operating under that law the most stable banks of any state in the union have been built up. Our laws take more pains to safeguard the interests of depositors than any others in the country. The principle of guaranteeing depositors is absolutely sound. If our law withstands the test of the supreme court of the United States and is held constitutional, it is my firm conviction every state in the Union and the federal government itself, will within the next twenty years, have passed laws embodying in some form the Oklahoma idea of absolutely guaranteeing deposits."

Relative to the location of the state capital, for which a special session of the legislature is now sitting at Oklahoma City, Mr. Cruce admitted he is in sympathy with the special session.

"I want the people to be satisfied with their choice," he said. "Naturally, as I shall have to live for four years in the town they select, I want them to feel kindly toward me. Like every other citizen of the state I have my private preference, but I shall not state what it is."

Wants Question Settled Now.

"I think, however, it is best for the people of the state, and decidedly best for the incoming administration, that the capital be definitely located at the present special session. For, if the question is not settled until the regular session, it will control all legislation that is then brought forward. If it is settled now, there will be no other business before the legislature, and it will be settled on its own merits."

Governor Cruce's Ardmore home is kept most comfortably by his niece the daughter of Chief Justice Caswell Bennett of the Kentucky court of appeals. He has one child, a daughter 15 years old. His wife, who Chitra Leflore, one-eighth Indian, died in 1893, Mr. Cruce moved to Indian Territory in 1891.

He studied law on his father's farm. He was the next to the youngest of six boys, each of whom served in turn as manager of the farm, the father having died when he was 7 years old.

"The farmer in those days had no chance to succeed if he remained, and in these days he has little chance compared with the other professions," the governor avowed in refutation of the "back-to-the-farm" slogan. "It's all right to tell the other fellow to go back, but take care not to do so yourself."

Earnings Increase.

Guthrie, Okla., Dec. 1.—The office of Insurance Commissioner Milas Lasater has earned $187,193 during the eleven months of 1910, as against $168,418 during the twelve months of last year.
